

- Name: Yongjun Cha
  - Current Position & Affiliation: National Cancer Center
  - Country: Korea
-

- Educational Background:

- March 1997 – February 2003: Bachelor of Medicine, Seoul National University College of Medicine
- March 2007 – February 2009: Master's degree, Seoul National University College of Medicine

- Professional Experience:

- March 2004 – February 2005: Intern at Seoul National University Hospital
- March 2005 – February 2009: Resident at Seoul National University Hospital
- April 2009 – April 2012: Military Doctor, Republic of Korea Army
- May 2012 – February 2013: Fellow at Seoul National University Hospital
- March 2013 – February 2015: Researcher at Seoul National University Cancer Research Institute
- March 2015 – February 2016: Specialist at Bundang Jesaeng General Hospital, Daejin Medical Foundation
- March 2016 – February 2017: Clinical Staff Specialist, Colorectal Cancer Center, National Cancer Center
- March 2017 – Present: Specialist, Colorectal Cancer Center, National Cancer Center
- March 2018 – January 2019: Senior Researcher, Precision Medicine Research Group, National Cancer Center
- February 2019 – February 2020: Specialist, Clinical Trials Center, National Cancer Center
- February 2019 – August 2021: Senior Researcher, Precision Medicine Research Branch, National Cancer Center
- February 2019 – March 2023: Specialist, Division of Hematology and Oncology, National Cancer Center
- March 2020 – June 2022: Senior Researcher, Clinical Research Protection Office, National Cancer Center
- September 2021 – Present: Senior Researcher, Bioinformatics Research Group, National Cancer Center
- September 2021 – Present: Senior Researcher, Cancer Metastasis Research Group, National Cancer Center
- September 2021 – Present: Senior Researcher, Treatment Resistance Research

Group, National Cancer Center

- March 2023 – Present: Clinical Professor, Division of Hematology and Oncology, National Cancer Center